"There is nothing outside of yourself that can ever enable you to get better, stronger, richer, quicker or smarter. Everything is within. Everything exists. Seek nothing outside of yourself." - Miyamoto Musashi This book details the life of Miyamoto Musashi who lived in Japan between the 16th and 17th centuries. He is considered the greatest swordsman that ever lived. In the pages that follow, you will be taken on a journey through his life. You will intimately discover the man, his philosophy of life, and his legacy. In this book, Andrew Wright passionately articulates Musashi's values and gives us a unique glimpse into the mind of a warrior and military commander. Drawn to conflict without hesitation, he was also a contemplative man who wrote a few books, including his masterpiece titled A Book of Five Rings. The author also summarizes these texts, revealing the intricacies of his thoughts. Musashi was elaborate in his planning, and a perfectionist. This will be clear to readers as they delve deeper into the gripping narrative on how he devised his strategies, and sized up his opponents. He also understood how the choice of weapon and terrain turned the odds of winning in his favor. Miyamoto Musashi died in a cave at the foot of a mountain to where he retired toward the end of his life. He was dressed in full battle gear. He is revered by many and regarded as an almost mythical figure. This book celebrates Musashi's versatility, his art of becoming one with his sword, and his relentless pursuit of perfection!
