Synopsis 'In a series of chapters built round poems by a number of writers including himself... Ted Hughes explores, colorfully and intensively, themes such as 'Capturing Animals', 'Wind and Weather' and 'Writing about People'. Poetry in the Making: A Handbook for Writing and Teaching ... Poetry in the Making (London: Faber and Faber, 1967) Andy Armitage writes about Hughes's 'anthology' of creative writing. Poetry in the Making (1967) began as a series of 'talks' that Hughes wrote, and read, for the BBC Schools Broadcasting radio series Listening and Writing [1]. He expanded upon these talks and supplemented them with 'teacher notes' and 'exercises' so that the printed book could be used as a classroom resource; as a teacher's handbook and an anthology of poems. Poetry in the Making — The Ted Hughes Society Poetry in the Making is a great book, suitable for people who have realized that poetry making is an activism, good for expressing problems in words, to allow the problems to be begun to be understood by the mind of the occupant of the body whose mind is attached, and any other readers.
